

MALY CONSTRUCTION, INC.

After receiving an education in interior design, Gale Maly's career path took an interesting turn. Seeing the need for a high-quality facility maintenance firm in her area, she built one from scratch, and, in 1995, she founded Maly Construction. Retail and commercial building projects soon expanded into high-end residential and remodeling ventures. Today, Maly Construction has two offices in Tucson that collaborate with premier residential architects and kitchen designers on some of the area's most luxurious homes. Clients from doctors to entrepreneurs and playwrights trust their dreams to Maly Construction. They appreciate the warm, client-centered focus of the management team and on-staff craftspeople, as well as the firm's notoriety for merging quality and value. Remodeling clients are thrilled to discover that the homes they had always dreamed of are right under their feet. "For $300,000, you can get a million-dollars' worth of satisfaction," explains Maly, adding that, in addition to unlocking a home's hidden potential, a remodel can add substantial value and be completed in phases for more liberal cash flow and financing. "Consider remodeling," Maly invites homeowners. "Perhaps you've been holding off on that new purchase. Let's talk about transforming what you already own."

INTERIOR

This room is virtually unrecognizable. A full Thermador kitchen with custom cabinetry and concrete counters and floors make what was once the garage a new and inviting space. The island is not only a focal point but is also functional with seating for up to 12.

INTERIOR

A typical utilitarian garage was just the right space to convert into the owners' dream kitchen.

INTERIOR

A ceiling shower and glass-walled spa transformed this ordinary bathroom into an exquisite European oasis. Prominent details such as a granite countertop and limestone walls and floors bring out the beauty in this updated bathroom.

INTERIOR

This 1970s bathroom with outdated pink cabinetry leaves much to be desired and lends itself to a remodel.
